

March 2026

Hello everyone,

I just returned from the National Meetings. These meetings are always a good reminder that while we may spend most of our time with our local clubs and regional events, we are part of a much larger Corvette community.

One thing that genuinely surprised me was how much traction the Governor's Garage has picked up nationally. I had several people come up and mention it, which was both encouraging and a little unexpected. The original inspiration for the podcast was simple. I wanted to go to the meetings and sit down with Howard Curtis for an episode. That mission was accomplished, but the story turned out to be much bigger than that.

Before I even arrived, the Governor's Garage tools had already started circulating. They are now being used in National training sessions. That is real impact. Something that started as a way to help our club and region communicate better is now helping other clubs operate more effectively as well. Because of that traction, the National Board has asked for my help promoting the 2026 Convention. So keep an eye out for a promotional package rolling out soon.

The next major piece of content coming from the Garage will be NCCC 101. This episode will be a great overview of what NCCCC actually is and how the whole structure works. If you are not already subscribed to the channel, now is a good time to jump in:

On the competition side, things are still in the planning phase. As always, this time of year is when everyone is setting their schedules before the summer season really opens up. The calendar is filling up quickly across the region, so take a look, make your plans, and come out and play.
